I wanted to offer a class that excites guitar players to learn how to play with another guitarist.

Being that guitar can be such a 1 person show - this class is meant to offer both guitarists the ability to learn rhythm guitar and lead guitar.

All exercises that I will provide for the classes will be intended for both guitarists to play each other's part.

With beginner students this class is to offer 1 guitarist playing very simple drawn out chords with the lead guitarist playing a steady melody with fundamentals in triad harmony.

Focusing on playing in time with each other is very important with two instruments. This class will be great for both of them to learn this aspect.

With intermediate students I wanted to bring a more rhythmic approach to the class and teach the lead players how to improvise.

Exploring different harmonic ideas with which scales are available for us to use.

Including sections of songs - If this class would be reoccurring event with the same students.

Both players will be exploring dual lead guitar lines so they can be familiar with stable time while playing melodies.

Best,
